More Explanation

Risk Factors

- Market Risk means the risk that the values of securities which the Fund has invested may increase or decrease due to outside factors such as economic/investment situations, political factors both internally and internationally which could be considered from the Standard Deviation (SD) of the Fund. If the Fund has a high SD, it is an indicator that the Fund has high a fluctuation from the changes in the prices of securities.
- High Issuer Concentration Risk means the risk determined by concentrated investment in instruments of any issuer, counterparty or other obligated person of such instrument or contract more than 10% of NAV. However, such concentrated investment does not include the case of investing in the following assets:
 1. Thai government fixed income instruments
 2. Foreign government instruments with investment grade credit rating.
 3. Deposits or equivalent instruments that person who accept deposits or the issuer with investment grade credit rating.
- High Sector Concentration Risk means the risk determined by concentrated investment in some specific sectors more than 20% of the NAV. In the events of unusual circumstance that affect the sector, the Fund may have higher volatility performance compare to Funds with more diversified sectors.

Portfolio Turnover Ratio (PTR) is calculated from the lower amount between sums of value of buying and selling assets of the Fund in a past accounting period divided by averaged net asset value in the same period. It is beneficial for the investors to acknowledge about trading values and the Fund's strategy. In example, the passive fund shall have low PTR, while the active fund shall have high PTR. Assets that are used in calculating PTR shall have liquidity for investment such as equity, bonds etc.
